Question III: Comprehension

Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

There were only a handful of families which educated their daughters so that they can also live the life they deserve. These women who got the freedom to education from their families, turned out to be the path setters for other women to follow. They were the ones who became an inspiration for other women and motivated them to follow their ambitions as well. They brought about a change for the betterment of the status of women in Indian Society.

Women possess incomparable qualities like a calm mind, the strength to overcome any emotional challenge, and handle the toughest situation with ease and optimism. Women keep their families intact and act as the thread which joins all the differences and people together. They are worshiped as goddesses in the name of Durga, Parvati, Kali, and Saraswati. As times changed, the status of women too changed and reached higher standards.

All the world knows our golden girl, sprint queen P.T. Usha. She bagged several golds in international athletic meets. She revealed that nothing is impossible for Indian women. Vijayalakshmi Pandit caught the world's attention by becoming the first woman President of the U.N. General Assembly. Sarojini Naidu, the Nightingale of India, was a popular freedom fighter. C.B. Muthamma became the first Indian woman ambassador. She was the Indian diplomat in Hungary. Shakuntala Devi of Karnataka proved the intellectual capacity of the Indian woman. The songs of M.S. Subhalakshmi and the poetical works of Amrita Pritam are well known all over the world. Santosh Yadav in mountaineering and Kalpana Chawla, the brave astronaut who met her tragic end while in space, have captured the hearts of millions through their astonishingly brave deeds. The day is not far away when India will produce a Madam Curie or a Pearl S. Buck.
